About Singapore

Singapore is called as Lion City. Officially the Republic of Singapore is a Southeast Asian city-state off the southern tip of the Malay Peninsula. An Island country made up of 63 Islands, it is separated from Malaysia by the Straits of Johor to its north and from Indonesia's Riau Islands by the Singapore Strait to its south.

Singapore is a parliamentary republic with a Westminster System of unicameral parliamentary government representing constituencies. Executive power rests with the Cabinet led by the Prime Minister and the President.

Singapore has four official Languages: English, Chinese, Malay and Tamil. English is the first language of the nation and is the language of business, government and medium of instruction in school.

Education system in Singapore has three levels- primary, secondary and tertiary levels. All the institutions, private and public must be registered with the Ministry of Education. English is the language of instruction in all public schools.

Singapore has a generally efficient healthcare system. The WHO ranks Singapore's healthcare system as 6th overall in the world in its World Health Report.

The country has the highest trade to GDP ratio in the world at 407.9 percent. Singapore has a highly developed market-based economy. Along with Hong Kong, South Korea and Taiwan, Singapore is one of the original four Asian Tigers. Singapore is the second free economy in the world after Hong Kong.

Singapore is also consistently ranked as one of the least corrupt countries in the world, along with New Zealand and the Scandinavian countries.

The currency of Singapore is the Singapore Dollar issued by the Monetary Authority of Singapore. It is interchangeable with the Brunei Dollar.

About 40% of Singapore’s residents are foreigner, one of the highest percentages in the world.
